...more Eastern Region Program Highlights... Reparation Board meeting OPTS The Opportunity to Succeed Program (OPTS) was developed to provide a continuum of care for up to 60 probationers/parolees whose challenges, as offenders with both mental illness diagnosis and some level of chemical Reparation Board/CPR Program dependency, identify them as high risk/high need. The Community Partnership for Restoration Problems relating to housing, transportation, (CPR) was developed and implemented around finances and family—along with ongoing mental restorative justice principles and was the first health treatment, medication compliance, and community supervision-based program of its substance abuse program participation kind in the state. CPR, which is a specialized, contribute to the difficulties of supervision. The intensive supervision program for high risk, Greater St. Louis Treatment Network has high need probationers, calls the Eastern partnered with P&P to provide intensive case Region Office home. Offenders in CPR are management services to address the multiple required to participate in cognitive needs of these offenders while encouraging restructuring, substance abuse programs, self-sufficiency. In 2001, 73 cases were referred Impact of Crime on Victims classes, and to the OPTS program which is based out of community service. In addition to reporting to District 7-Central. their assigned probation officer, they also meet OPTS case conference with a reparation board. Reparation boards are comprised of community members who are Volunteers in Corrections. Three to five community members serve on each board. These dedicated neighbors encourage offenders to take responsibility for the impact their criminal behavior has had on the community. They steer offenders toward

success, focussing on the community, and accountability, protection of competency development.
